

Jade Garee-Dexter

Board Member

My name is Jade Garee-Dexter or Dr. Jade, and I am a pediatric hospitalist physician and breastfeeding medicine specialist. I joined the Board of Directors of the DSASTX a little over 2 years ago. I first became involved with the DSASTX about 7.5 years ago when the military moved us to San Antonio to better support our son with Down syndrome. I slowly became more and more involved and love attending any and all events that I can fit with my work and family schedules. I have personally received so much support from this great organization that when I was approached to see if I would be interested in joining the Board of Directors, I jumped at the opportunity! During my job as a physician, I love connecting with families that have a loved one with Down syndrome and in turn connecting them to the DSASTX.

The DSASTX is such a welcomed support to help families realize that they have a local community of families that have had many of the similar challenges and can provide insight, advice, and most importantly, acceptance. My favorite part of being on the Board of Directors is helping to grow this organization in order to provide even more support for individuals with Down syndrome and their families!
